INTRODUCTION

We take pleasure in presenting our ninth edition of the Merrill City Directory. Every effort has been made to make this Directory as complete and accurate as is humanly possible.

As in the previous edition, we include in this Directory an Alphabetical List of Names, a Street and Avenue Guide, a Reverse Telephone Directory, a Rural Route Directory, and a Classified Business Directory, as well as miscellaneous information.

We wish to thank the many business men who have supported this Directory with their advertising and subscriptions.

A Directory Library of out of town directories is maintained in your Chamber of Commerce office for the free use of the general public, and your Merrill City Directory is being sent to Directory Libraries throughout the United States.

welcome to MERRILL

Merrill, county seat of Lincoln County, in the north central section of Wisconsin, observed its centennial in 1947.

This site, where the Wisconsin and the Prairie rivers meet, was virgin forest in 1847 when a dam was built across the Wisconsin river, a sawmill erected, and a permanent settlement established.

During the first several decades of its existence, the community was primarily a sawmill town.

Its period of greatest growth began in 1880, with the coming of the railroad. This was during the "Golden Age of Lumbering," which ended at the turn of the century.

First called Jenny Bull Falls, then Jenny Falls, and later Jenny, the city was named Merrill by act of the state legislature in 1881. This was in honor of S. S. Merrill, then general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad.

In 1892, when sawmill operations reached their peak, there were eight mills running and the total cut that year was approximately 150,000,000 feet of lumber and 86,000,000 shingles.

As the supply of pine diminished, the volume of lumber produced declined rapidly, and the emphasis turned to the hardwoods.

Today there is a considerable diversity of industry, though the manufacture of wood products is still an important part of the whole.

Merrill is now a city of approximately 10,000 population. It is a city of friendly people who extend a sincere welcome to all who come to visit or who come to make it their home.

MERRILL is the natural trading center for an area having a population of about 30,000

The rural residents are dairy farmers for the most part. Their herds of pure bred and fine grade dairy cows are among the best in the state. The many fine farms that dot the gently rolling countryside show the results that come through the use of modern farm machinery and the application of the best farming practices.

Through the years, the Chamber of Commerce has fostered urban-rural relations and today there exists a splendid spirit of cooperation that is mutually beneficial.

Though the city came into being and existed for several decades as a sawmill town, it now has a wide diversity of industry. Among the many articles manufactured or processed are:

Shoes, paper, window sash, doors, window units, woolen sports garments, woolen blankets and other goods, barn equipment, evaporated milk, butter, cheese, canned peas, canned beans, knitted woolen garments, cheese boxes, toothpicks, wooden handles for brushes, candy, wire goods, cement blocks, gloves, grey iron castings, slats for venetian blinds, garage doors, children's furniture, kitchen cabinets, lumber, and a variety of smaller items made from wood.

A number of fine city-owned lots are available for industrial purposes and the industrial committees of both the city council and the Chamber of Commerce will be glad to answer any inquiries from business or industrial concerns seeking locations or information.

Merrill has modern theaters, hotels, and restaurants. The city is adequately served by its fine daily newspaper, The Merrill Daily Herald, with a guaranteed circulation of 4,900. Radio station WLIN, a 1,000 watt station, serves not only Merrill but half of Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

Merrill is a station on the Valley Division of the Milwaukee Road and is also served by the Greyhound Bus Lines. Its airport is municipally-owned. A bus line provides public transportation within the city limits.

The city of Merrill has many social cultural, church, fraternal, veteran and service organizations. Though its physical attractions are many and varied, its greatest asset is, perhaps, its spirit of neighborliness that brings a measure of contentment to its residents and an immediate sense of welcome to the visitor.

The seventeen churches of the city, its fine public library and the many excellent public and parochial schools reflect the friendly character of Merrill's residents, whose homes border pleasant streets lined with shade trees . . . homes with well kept lawns and lovely gardens.

No description of Merrill would be complete without mention of the outstanding parks which have been responsible for the title "City of Parks."

Council Grounds State Forest, a 277-acre tract of surpassing natural beauty, is on the Wisconsin River, but only a mile west of the city. With its central shelter house, outdoor fireplaces, boat landing, parking sites for motorists and trailer tourists, and sanitary facilities, it is a popular picnic place for both residents and visitors.

The Stange Public Park, in the heart of the city, provides fishing for the youngsters in its tree-shaded lagoons, a bathing beach on the banks of the Prairie River, an athletic field and grandstand, playground equipment for the youngsters, a kitchenette for picnic groups, and a band shell for the outdoor concerts staged weekly during the summer by the Merrill City Band.

Riverside Park, on the Wisconsin River, is another popular retreat. It has accommodations for picnic parties and a pavilion for dancing. This woodland area has a quiet charm though located but a stone's throw from the bridge over which busy U. S. Highway 51 enters the city from the south.

This area is a fisherman's paradise. The Prairie River is a noted trout stream. Other streams and lakes within the city limits, or but a short distance away, abound in muskellunge, bass, pickerel, pike and pan fish. For the sports-minded, there are a fine golf course, excellent tennis courts, an archery range, an athletic field with grandstand and lights for hardball and football, and a number of softball diamonds.

INSURANCE IS ALMOST AS PERSONAL AS DOCTORING

There are two times when I want my insurance agent nearby and neighborly—

1. When I Buy My Insurance and Need Somebody Smart Who Can Size Up My Situation and Prescribe Tailor-Made Insurance to Fit My Needs.
2. When I Have a Claim—Am in Trouble—and Need a Friend to Help Out.
