JOHNSON DIRECTORIES is pleased to present the 1987 edition of the Merrill, Wisconsin City Directory. It has always been our policy to provide accurate and comprehensive directory service to those communities that desire the "finest". We realize however that some errors and omissions are inevitable and earnestly request that these be brought to our attention by calling (303) 667-0652. These errors and omissions will be corrected in the next edition of the directory. It is only through the interest of the subscribers and users of the directory that each new edition can surpass the last.

In the public interest the use of this directory for any other purpose than as a reference volume or reproduction of any part of this directory is expressly prohibited without written permission from the publisher.

In 1932, a young lawyer fresh from Marquette University decided to publish a book. This was not an ordinary book, but a list of people, their families, occupations and other vital information — a city directory. 1932 was hardly the time to begin, but people and businesses needed this important information then, just as they do now. Ken Erion started Johnson Publishing Company that year, and guided its growth on sound business principles and belief in a quality product designed to service his customers. Now, more than fifty years later, Johnson Directories and its affiliates are still doing what Ken Erion initiated in 1932.

Johnson Directories, a division of U S WEST Marketing Resources, has enjoyed its share of growth. Starting with one small city directory in Wisconsin, it now publishes 500 quality, accurate directories which serve nearly 2,000 communities across the nation.

New products, enhancements of service and our rigorous commitment, place Johnson Directories in a leadership role.

Merrill, Wisconsin

Like a number of settlements in the great timber country of the North, Merrill was some time arriving at its name. In the early 1840s as the timber country was open to meet the needs of the tree-barren prairie states and a growing nation, the present site of Merrill was known as Jenny Bull Falls. It lay at the heart of a vast forest land known best to the Chippewa Indians who camped at Big Eddy and pow-wowed at Council Grounds.

By 1843, a trading post was built about a mile and a half south. John Faely had constructed the first home shortly before. Four years later, Andrew Warren began construction of a dam across the Wisconsin River at the foot of Mill Street. Warren also built the first of what was to be a number of sawmills in Jenny Bull Falls and later Merrill. The mill was powered by the dam which was nine feet high and nearly 500 feet wide. In 1870, T. B. Scott succeeded Warren in ownership of the mill. By 1880, the mill had an annual capacity of 10 million board feet plus two million shingles. Fifteen years later the mill was producing 25 million feet of lumber and 20 million shingles. In 1899, this highly productive mill burned to the ground. In the meantime, Jenny Bull Falls legally changed to Merrill in honor of the general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, Mr. S. S. Merrill. This railroad and passenger depot, a hub of social activity through the boom lumbering years and after, served as a community youth center until its demise in 1976.

A number of significant events took place during the 1880s and 1890s. Coinciding with the adoption of the name Merrill in 1881, the Wisconsin Telephone Company began operation with 20 phones in service. By 1885, the population had reached 7,000, only 3,000 less than live in Merrill today. Two years before, in 1883, Merrill incorporated and the first City Council met and T. B. Scott was named the lumber city's first mayor.

History

Electric street cars were placed in operation in 1890, one of the first such installations in the world. Further evidence of the refinement of civilization was seen a year later when the T. B. Scott Library was opened. Eighteen Ninety-One was the arrival in Merrill of the famed Hans V. Kaltenborn. Only a lad of 13, Kaltenborn grew to maturity here with his family and then went on to become the dean of American news commentators. Eighteen ninety-two marked the peak of the lumbering boom. That year, with eight mills in operation, a staggering 150,000,000 board feet of lumber was produced along with 86 million shingles. From this point, the impact of lumbering began to taper off primarily due to the decline in the great pine forests. The lumbering men began to concentrate on the hardwood forests; in 1898 nearly 20 mills in this area produced hardwood lumber. Merrill's present recognition as a principal millwork center seems only natural in light of the lumbering background of the community.

The turn of the century marked a milestone for Merrill. Faced with a diminishing timber supply, the people who had built the city faced a decision—move on to greater timber resources, or stay and diversify their industry. Their decision to stay underscores one of the great strengths of Merrill today—a diversity of industry that provided a stable economic base and avoids those problems inherent in a city of one or few industries.

The city has 11 beautifully wooded parks which feature activities for all ages: picnicking, hiking, fishing, swimming, and tennis. There is abundant playground equipment, baseball diamonds, horseshoe pits as well as facilities for ice skating, snowmobiling, and snow skiing. Merrill is also the home of Council Grounds State Park. Few areas offer a seasonal mix of outdoor recreation compared to Merrill's.

Heart
 Answers

 OF THE ARTERIES?

A common form of hardening of the arteries is atherosclerosis. It occurs when fatty deposits in the blood-stream build up on the inner walls of the arteries. People who have atherosclerosis are more likely to suffer a heart attack or stroke. The risk of developing atherosclerosis can be reduced by observing a diet low in saturated fats and cholesterol. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.
